

QUINTUS STUDIOS

Quintus Studios is the next generation broadcaster and distributor of premium long form and short form video content. With a pure focus on documentaries and unscripted series, we are actively involved in all steps of the value-creation chain - from development and financing to a successful exploitation on our channels, license-distribution and monetization.

Quintus combines a deep understanding of content and audiences in traditional TV as well as in the algorithm-led environment of digital video, a network of owned & operated VOD- and FAST Channels and an established international content sales & buyers network. We act across all relevant video and media platforms around the globe.

Still, there is always room for improvement. That's why we are looking for you to support our team in either London (fully remote) or Berlin (mix of office and remote working) as an

Editor (m/f/d)

As an Editor you will be responsible for cutting, editing and re-working our content. With a creative eye for engaging content and in close cooperation with your future colleagues from development, production and digital, you will transform existing content into compelling short stories or vice versa, you will add graphics and CGI for better understanding or create new long form documentaries from existing archive material.

Day-to-day tasks will be:

- Editing and re-cutting Quintus Studios long form content for broadcast on Facebook Watch, IGTV, Snap and Tik Tok.
- Researching and creating new, long-form documentaries from existing archive material and short-form content.
- Creating animated sequences / CGI for use in both long form and short form documentaries.
- Optimizing deliverables – ensuring content is ready to transmit on our channels, removing ad breaks, checking all audio, checking and ensuring ad-friendliness, and adding bespoke files such as intros.
- Editing of compilations (creating long form documentaries from existing episodes of short form content) and YouTube Stories (15 second long short clips for our channels that mainly serve as a teaser to our latest current releases)

QUINTUS STUDIOS

Your Profile:

We are looking for people who are fascinated by what they do and who are enthusiastic to move Quintus forward with their dedication and skills. That's you? If the following describes you even further, we would love to meet you.

- You are a Native English Speaker
- You are creative or – better – a magician when it comes to the cutting and editing of compelling stories
- You understand the importance of editorial voice and tone (for different platforms)
- You have strong interest in factual and various factual genres, such as engineering, business, current affairs, history, socio-cultural
- You are well organized, give excellent attention to detail and have the ability to proof-check your own work
- You are an open, self-confident team player who likes a chat over a coffee as well as a controversial discussion on a documentary topic.

What we offer:

- A relaxed, flexible, life-friendly and at the same time ambitious work environment
- The opportunity to work independently, to experiment, test and learn to develop and implement your own ideas
- Very fast decision processes
- The chance to grow with the business unit and thus to exert significant influence on your own career opportunities
- A fair salary and
- An exciting and fun time

Sounds amazing? Then please send over your CV and a cover letter describing who you are, what motivates you and why you are the best person for the job. Ideally include some “story work” you’ve done before. Please send all this to:

jobs@quintus-media.com

We are really looking forward to hearing from you!