PIRATE COASTS: TERROR ON THE ASIAN SEAS

1x60' | Producer: Frederick Gillingham | Production year: 2025

South-East Asia's maritime shipping superhighways are essential arteries for global trade. Indispensable to the world economy, thousands of commercial vessels sail through these waters each year, transporting some of the world's most sought after goods, minerals and resources. But as economies grow more and more dependent on these maritime routes, crime syndicates, pirate gangs and terror groups who have roamed these lawless seas for centuries are a constant threat. This film aims to uncover the root causes of what drives modern Asian piracy, who is behind it and what is being done to stop it.

WOLVES: THE RETURN OF THE PACK

2x60' | Producer: WELTN24 | Production year: 2025

The wolves are back— across Europe. While urban dwellers are often fascinated by their return, for many in rural areas, it's a cause for alarm. These strictly protected predators don't just hunt deer and other wildlife; they also attack livestock, including goats, sheep, ponies, horses, and even cattle grazing in open fields. Last year alone, wolves killed over 65,000 grazing animals across the EU. In Germany, according to 2022 figures, more than 8,000 animals were killed or injured by wolves. The predators now even wander through villages during the day. Protect or cull? This question is dividing the nation.
